

THE EVENING BULLETIN

ROSSER & MCCARTHY, Publishers and Proprietors.

To WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS

FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1885.

We need hardly say
That you'll find it there,
At the Mayville Hotel,
To the "Chocolater."

GENERAL GRANT is reported to be worse and has stopped work on his book.

THE epidemic at Plymouth, Pa., is still raging and deaths are occurring every day.

CALL and see the elegant line of Knight Templar charms just received at Bal-low's.

R. J. P. EWING, of Ripley, will preach at the Lawrence Creek Christian Church on Sunday, the 17th instant.

PROFESSOR AVIS will assist Rev. George S. Eaton in a meeting next week. Particulars will be given to-morrow.

TO-NIGHT, at the Mayville Hotel, there will be a dance and "chocolater." The ladies are especially invited. The admission price is one dollar.

BOONING next week the Mayville Cotton Mills will run only four days in each week. The arrangement, it is to be hoped, will be temporary.

Trial of Henry Freese, colored, at Cattletown, for killing Chester Honaker, on the 3rd instant, ended with a verdict of guilty. The punishment was fixed at death.

Rev. W. P. HARVAY, State Sunday school Evangelist, will preach at the Baptist Church, at Mayville, to-morrow.
Mass meeting at 2 o'clock p. m. Address A. L. Vickers, eq., of Covington.
$2.00. at the church for all who may come.

MR. SILAS KANE, a well-known and useful citizen of Flemingsburg, died yesterday, about noon, of heart disease. The remains will be brought to this city today, and will be buried at the Catholic cemetery at Washington, this afternoon.

GEORGE LINDSEY, who was shot recently at Manchester, by Hosea Sowers, was brought by a band of regulators on the 11th instant, and ordered to leave the community. Lindsey is a noted character and had been ordered away from Manchester several weeks ago by the indignant citizens.

They are Artistic.

That is what may be truthfully said of Messrs. Hechinger & Co.'s show windows to-day. They are certainly as handsome as a picture. The Old Fellows' Hall clothing store with its new dress of black and gold and artistically dressed windows is well worth going to see.

RICHARD McKANNA, who was arrested in this city on the 9th inst., on the charge of burning the barn of Milton Wikoff, near Rome, O., April 2nd, was tried at West Union, O., and bound over in the sum of $300 to await the action of the grand jury, and in default was sent to jail. Philip Moore, Mrs. Slagle and two sons, also supposed to be implicated in the affair, were discharged from custody.

The Magistrates composing the Court of claims have fixed the salary of the Superintendent of Common Schools at $800 a year. They have acted wisely.
The increased duties of the office have added largely to the labors of that official and it is proper that there should be a fair compensation for the services rendered.
Other counties of the size and importance of Mason, pay the Superintendent in about the same proportion.

"The Heart Bowed Down by Weight of Woe."

That is to say, the mournful heart of the suffering woman who is burdened with dyspepsia and agonizes with torment during weary nights of sleeplessness. Such a woman needs kind friends, heart sympathy and Brown's Iron Bitters. Mr. A. A. Mantus, Marshall, Texas writes: "My wife has been entirely cured of dyspepsia and general debility by using Brown's Iron Bitters." Good news for the weary heart.

In the Circuit Court yesterday in the case of the Commonwealth and Chas. O.
Sulser vs. W. B. Dawson, an action for $3,000 damage for false imprisonment, the plaintiff recovered, and thus established the principle that the officers of the City of Mayville can not imprison a man for costs. Mr. Sulser was represented by Salles & Salles and Chas. D.
Newell; the defense was conducted by A. M. J. Cochran, W. H. Wadsworth, Jr., and E. L. Worthington. The case was closely contested at every point. Chas.
D. Newell in this case made his first jury speech in the Circuit Court. His presentation of his case was spirited and eloquent and presages for him success in his chosen profession.

Court of Claims Proceedings.

Report of W. W. Ball committee to Comptroller Court of Claims orders, have transpired stock into the county, etc., directors with power to act.

The proposition of the C. and S. E. R.
R. Company was withdrawn.

The report of the committee to examine the accounts of G. S. Wall, treasurer of the jail sinking fund, was received and tures for coal, clerks' offices &c., was received and filed.

hands any sum of money has been allowed at this term of court, or in whose hands any sum of money may hereafter be allowed by this court, for the benefit and relief of paupers, or for any other purpose, be required to file, at the next Court of Claims, or at the Court of Claims succeeding that in which the allowance shall have been made, a written report, accompanied by the proper vouchers, showing that said sum of money has been properly expended for the purposes intended by this court.

Disinfectants and Disinfection.

MAYVILLE, Ky., May 14, 1885.
Editor Bulletin: In response to your request for something in reference to disinfectants, I can do no better than to further condense a synopsis of the report made by the committee of the American Public Health Association, given in a recent number of the New York Medical Record. It is plain, practical and authentic.

The prevalent view is that all infectious diseases are caused by a specific infectious substance, supposed to be a living germ, and disinfection is complete only when this germ is effectually destroyed.
It is not enough that putrefactive decomposition be arrested and foul odors overcome; antiseptics and deodorizers do this, but they stop short of the actual destruction of the disease-germ, and are, so far, of limited value. The popular sulphate of iron or common copperas is of this class; it possesses no power, even in the strongest solutions, to destroy the vitality of disease-germ.

However, when masses of organic material about human habitations can not be effectually destroyed, disinfected or removed, then antiseptics and deodorizers become valuable in restraining the development of disease-germ. But, in many localities, and especially in the sick room, we have this positive advantage; we know where to find and how to destroy these germs, and it is here that disinfectants proper, or germicides, show their real value.

Chloride of lime is believed to be the best, safest and cheapest disinfectant.
Corrosive sublimate and permanganate of potash may take equal rank with it, but must be handled with caution.

The following solutions are approved as disinfectants and can be readily made: Solution No. 1: Dissolve four ounces of best chloride of lime in one gallon of soft water, use one pint of this for disinfection of each discharge in cholera, typhoid fever, epidemic dysentery, etc. Mix well and leave in the vessel ten minutes before throwing into the privy vault or water closet. Disinfect vomited matter in same way. Infected sputum should be discharged directly into a cup, half full of the solution.

Solution No. 2: Dissolve two drachms each of corrosive sublimate and permanganate of potash into one gallon of soft water.
This is equally effective with solution No. 1, and has the advantage of being odorless.
It is, however, highly poisonous, will injure lead pipes if passed through them in considerable quantities and must be left a longer time in contact with the infected material. Must be used with great caution.

Solution No. 3 is composed of one part of liquor sodae chlorinatae, and soft water five parts. It has no special advantage over No. 1 and costs more.
For the disinfection of privy vaults, etc., the following formula is recommended by the board: Chloride of lime, one pound; corrosive sublimate, one ounce; plaster of Paris, nine pounds.
The sublimate should be finely pulverized and thoroughly mixed with the plaster of Paris. Here again caution is required in the preparation and use, as the compound is poisonous.

Solution No. 4, diluted with nine parts of water, may be used for disinfecting clothing or the cloths used in the sick room, the articles being kept immersed in it for two or three hours. Boiling for half an hour or so, will also destroy the activity of all known disease germs.

Will add that the prime obstacles to practical sanitation are, ignorance of the means, skepticism and indifference and dread of the cost. The latter especially should not be operative longer, as the ingredients here named are inexpensive, cost nothing, compared with the assured benefits derived. With means so simple and cost so trifling, thorough disinfection should be voluntarily practiced and not await enforcement. Few really need to be told that with proper attention to the water supply, ventilation and general cleanliness an epidemic may be avoided, or the mortality largely decreased, should it come. The Chinese plan of feeding the doctor to keep the family in health, and stopping his pay when they get sick, might work well for the coming season, at least.

Avoiding a Beat.

From the San Francisco Post.
The editor of the Deadwood Reformer attended church for the first time last Sunday. In about an hour he rushed into the office and said:

"What the blazes are you fellows doing? How about the news from the seat of war?"

"What news?"

"Why, all this about the Egyptian army being drowned in the Red Sea.
Why, the Gospel sharp up at the church was telling about it just now, and not a word of it in this morning's paper.
Hushe round, you fellows, and get the facts, or the Sharp sharp will get a beat on us. Look spry, then, and run an extra edition while I put on the bulletin board "Great English Victory in the Sudan."

The importance of the comma was well shown by a notice recently read in a church in Michigan, which ran as follows: "Dr. D. will deliver a lecture on Saturday evening of this week, subject, the Circulation of the Blood in the Baptist Church."

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, itches and lower part of the rectum, and a feeling of soreness. If there is some affection of the kidneys or neighborhood, and if the patient is of a nervous temperament, as is frequently the case, the disease is present, as a rule, in the rectum, and is a common attendant of dyspepsia, indigestion and other ailments.
It is the application of Dr. Bosanque's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the inflammation, and effecting a permanent cure.
Price 50 cents. Address the Dr. Bosanque Medicine Co., Platts, O. or by Geo. T. Wood.

George T. Wood, the Druggist, who is always looking out for the interest of his customers, has now secured the sale of Dr. Bosanque's Pile Remedy in this city. He has a large stock of cure combs, ointments, pills in the chest and all of all sizes for the cure of piles. Price 50 cents and 100. Samples free.

$200.000 in presents given away. Send 50 cents in stamps and you will get a package of goods of large value, that will start you work that will make you a millionaire in money faster than anything else in America.
All about the PRIZE is printed in a little box. Agents wanted everywhere, of either sex, of all ages, for the prize or spare time only, to work for at their own homes. For-

THE PRELLER TRAGEDY.

THE FRIENDS OF MAXWELL'S VICTIM IN EUROPE HEARD FROM.

A Letter Received From the Murderer Man's Employer—Cold and Heartless.
Disposition of Effects—The New Witness—No More Poison.

St. Louis, May 15.—A letter with an English postmark was laid upon Chief Harrison's desk, and before the seal had been broken it was known that at last something definite had come from England, with reference to C. Arthur Preller, murdered in the Southern hotel, April 5. Nothing has been heard from his relatives or employers, and the circumstance was used as a base to build up a fanciful story that Preller had disappeared and put up a job with Maxwell to place a purchased cadaver in a trunk and let it pass for Preller that he might escape. The letter was opened. It read as follows: "BRADFORD YOUNG, April 30.—Lawrence Harrison, Esq.: Dear Sir—I thank you for your letter of the 15th inst., and beg to say that Mr. Emilius Preller and myself are sending to Mr. Frank Schlesinger, of Brown street, New York, a power of attorney by which he will be enabled to receive from you all the property of the late Mr. Chase. Arthur Preller left in St. Louis or any other city in the United States. May I beg you to kindly assist him as much as possible in the matter. The trunk of my friend contained a large quantity of samples of cloth and fancy patterns which are very valuable to me. These and various pocket-books will, I think, be found in the big trunks marked C. A. P. in white letters. There should also be several hand-bags containing my patterns, and over and above these there must be several trunks of good quality which contained the valuable clothes of my friend with a large collection of books and maps. Mr. Preller is writing Mr. Frank Schlesinger and is giving him an address to which to send all the stuff. Possibly he may send one portion to Mr. Preller in London and the other here to me in Bradford. I sincerely thank you for all your great exertions in the sad tragedy and sincerely trust that you may be successful in bringing the wicked murderer to justice. Perhaps you will kindly inform me of any further news. Believe me, yours faithfully,

"J. H. DIXON."
A letter similar to the one received by Chief Harrison was things by the managers of the Southern hotel, and turned over to the public administrator. Both letters are exceedingly cold and business-like, there being scarcely any sympathy expressed in them. The trunks will not be turned over to Mr. Schlesinger immediately, but will be held in the hope that something in them may be of use in the trial of the case. One of Preller's trunks was held by the customs officials at Fort Hron for duty, but nothing has been heard from it since a few days after the discovery of the corpse in the trunk. It is not known what it contained.
Dr. Charles Loeckel, the chemist, called on Coroner Nieldet, and, being asked if he had found anything new in the shape of poison in Preller's stomach, said that he had not, though he had applied a number of tests. He is not done with it yet, however, and will conduct a number of other experiments. Ever since the fact was made known that Maxwell had gone to Auckland the chief has been worried by letters from parties anxious to go after him and fetch him back. V. B. Harris, an attendant at the St. Joseph insane asylum, is the latest applicant. He would like to go, he says, for the benefit of his health, and asks to be paid nothing but his expenses.

The New Witness.
WASHINGTON, May 15.—Representative Glover, of St. Louis, started homeward by way of New York. Before he went he made something of an investigation regarding the new witness in the Maxwell case. Mr. Glover says he learns that Mr. Buford is the president of a large manufacturing establishment at Rock Island, and is a man of undoubted veracity. Mr. Buford was in the city, and in conversation with Commissioner Black stated that on the evening Preller is supposed to have been murdered he occupies a room with another gentleman directly opposite room 144 in the Southern hotel; that late in the evening his friend and himself were startled at hearing that which Mr. Buford describes as "horrible and inexplicable noises" in room 144; that they listened attentively for some minutes, and became convinced that somebody in the hotel were undergoing the agonies of death; that they were about to make investigation when the sound suddenly ceased, and after commenting on the strange noises the two gentlemen directly permitted the matter to pass from their minds. If Gen. Black remembers the conversation correctly, Mr. Buford said these sounds occurred late in the evening, which would bear out the theory Mr. Glover has that Maxwell's effort to choke Preller to death failed, and that when Preller returned to consciousness he was strangled by Maxwell. Mr. Glover says it may be necessary to prove by circumstantial evidence that a murder was committed in room 144 of the Southern hotel, in order to disprove any attempt that might be made to show that the body found was only a subject for dissection. If this line of defense should be adopted, Mr. Buford's testimony would become of great value to the prosecution.

COAL MINE HORROR.
Four Men and a Boy Meet a Terrible Death in a Colliery.
POTTSVILLE, Pa., May 15.—A cave-in occurred at North Ashland colliery, by which three miners and a driver were killed and another fatally injured. The colliery is owned by the Philadelphia and Reading coal and iron company. At 10 o'clock the water from above broke through, washing out the pillars and engulfing the men working in No. 45 breast, catching a driver boy just starting from the fall with a two mule trap cars. John Head, father of the boy, heard the noise of the rushing water. Leaping on the foremost mule, just then passing, he attempted to reach a place of safety. The falling coal, however, caught him and crushed him and the mules to the ground. The victims are Charles Dougherty, James Ennis and Michael McKernan, miners, and Martin Head, driver. Miller, outright, and John Head, both legs broken, ribs crushed and shoulder broken. The latter was taken out within an hour by the rescuing party, but he cannot survive his injuries. The accident was caused by robbing the pillars from the gangway, thus weakening the walls.
